Paris Conference Rejects All Delegates Not Vested With Powers To Act

Biggest Day's Stock Trading Since the Divide Boom Began

With a total of 978,599 shares turned over on the short session of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, a new record was established for volume of business. If any one had the time to compute the amount involved in the big list they would probably find out that the aggregate value surpassed anything seen on the coast since the cyclonic days of the widest period of the Comstock. The second largest turnover was in Haasbrook where 56,900 shares changed hands after opening at 99, selling up to the even dollar and closing at 100. The greatest volume of business was with the Western where 75,900 shares changed hands in large blocks on a rising market that went from 23 to 29. Also reached 88 with few offerings and therefore limited sales, while Allied went from 22 to 24 on orders for 14,000 shares. Grimes sold up to 45 while Silver Divide reached the 45 mark. On the outside the transactions were Spearhead which was in strong demand, Great Western on the Tonopah group (that was in lively demand), the Con. V. R. which soared from $1.75 to $4.00. The lowness of the day is summarized in the following list of the leaders:

Alto	17,000
Grimes	29,000
Rever	24,000
Kessona	46,200
Midway	42,000
White Cap	29,000
Spearhead	44,000

GERMANY SENDS PEACE DUMMIES

PARIS, April 21.—A statement issued by the Havas News Bureau, a semi-official agency, says surprise has been manifested over the fact that Germany did not select more important men on her peace delegation than Dr. Haniel von Hainbaur, Herr von Keller, Ernest Schmidt, Herr Beilmer and Herr Luders, also that according to the German note, they have power only to receive the text of the terms and not sign a treaty. It declared the statement adds that "the circumstances of sending these delegates to Versailles would be useless."

ARCHIE N. BELL DIES AT HOME

Archie N. Bell, aged 35, died at the upper ranch on Reese river yesterday morning, according to a telegram received here by Herman Albers and a subsequent wire from the undertaker at Austin addressed to Frank J. Cavanaugh, asking that a casket be forwarded at once. The funeral was to take place from the home this afternoon followed by interment in the family plot where another son, Elmer, was interred after a long illness in Tonopah following his death from influenza in Philadelphia while he was in the army.

Archie Bell was in Tonopah a week ago when he complained of a chilly sensation. He was accompanied by his wife who urged him to remain here where he could receive the best of care but the patient insisted on returning home and it is believed the arduous journey accelerated the progress of the disease. Mr. Bell was a son of Senator T. J. Bell, the veteran of Reese river, and was acknowledged to be one of the most perfect specimens of manhood ever seen in Nevada, as he stood six feet three and one-half inches and weighed 200 pounds. His life was spent outdoors, as he was passionately fond of the country and never knew a day's illness. After studying at the University of Nevada he entered the forest service as ranger on the Toiyabe reserve but in recent years he devoted himself exclusively to his ranch holdings. He is mourned by a widow and three children, two of whom are twins, his parents, four brothers and a sister, Mrs. Sam Worthington, who resides on the ranch.

As a student of political affairs Archie Bell was without a peer in Nevada, as he devoted every moment of his spare time to a study of national politics and was familiar with every detail of the progress of events at Washington. He was a most lovable character and the friend of every man he met.

The casket was sent out from Tonopah yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Interment will be in the local cemetery. William B. Hafferon, a brother of the deceased lady, and wife who were to have arrived last evening from Yuma, will come in this evening by auto by way of Mina, having been routed around by Mojave instead of by Ludlow as they expected. At first it was supposed that the couple had missed the train connection at Ludlow and a car was sent out to bring them to Tonopah, as trains operate from Ludlow only three times a week. In the meantime a telegram was received notifying the family of the change in route. At both masses Sunday morning Father Noonan spoke in the most touching terms of the devotion of the deceased to her church duties as she had been an officer of the Altar society almost from the time of her arrival in camp. Last evening the rosary was recited at the church for the repose of the soul of the departed.

EASTER MORN GREETED BY PRAYER ON THE COAST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 21.—As the rising sun's first shafts lit up the mountains near here Sunday morning, tens of thousands of worshipers of all creeds spent in prayer in the great outdoors in celebration of the festival of Easter. Hundreds of men, women and children, not only from all sections of the state but from distant parts of the country, started Saturday for the shores of Mount Rubidoux, near Riverside, for Hollywood and Eagle Rock in the San Fernando hills, and other points where the simple but impressive annual open air services are held each Easter morning at sunrise.

Many of those worshippers secured accommodations for the night in the various mountain inns and taverns, but hundreds slept out under the stars so as to be ready at the dawn to participate in the service of song and prayer.

It was on Mount Rubidoux that the first of these outdoor services was held last sunrise more than a decade ago at the suggestion of Jacob Rios, who has been characterized by the late Theodore Roosevelt as "America's most useful citizen." On April 26, 1907, a great crowd was raised on the summit of Rubidoux and dedicated by the late builders of civilization in California.

A tablet commemorating Father Serra's work was unveiled by the then president of the United States, William Howard Taft, in 1909, and there, in 1913, Henry Van Dyke, former United States ambassador to The Netherlands, read his poem "God of the Open Air."

In the complaint of action that de la Garza entered into a contract for the purchase of the ammunition but later transferred the contract to the J. Pierpont Morgan company for $220,000, a profit which Madero declares rightfully is his.

In his answer to the suit, de la Garza refers to the Pershing punitive expedition and declares that the court action instigated by Madero is based on transactions with Villa and cannot be maintained, as Villa is an enemy of the United States.

De la Garza adds in his answer that Villa still is hostile to the United States and that for this reason, the trial of the Madero action in the local courts would be against public policy.
